Shenandoah Biotechnology Receives Accreditation for ISO 9001:2015

Warwick, PA – March 19, 2019 – Shenandoah Biotechnology announces that it has received accreditation for ISO 9001:2015. PRI Registrar recognizes Shenandoah Biotechnology for its commitment to continual improvement in their management system.

Shenandoah Biotechnology received accreditation for demonstrating their ongoing commitment to quality by satisfying customer requirements and industry specifications.

“The certification is an important step in establishing Shenandoah Biotechnology as a reliable and long-term supplier for the research community. I am very proud of my team,” said founder and President, Pamela De Lacy. “Achieving this certificate is an acknowledgment of our ongoing commitment to providing consistent and dependable products to the life science research community.”

Shenandoah Biotechnology has been audited and approved by an external certification organization, which means that the management system meets the requirements of the standard. The standard is harmonized with EU regulations and certification endorses the company's ability to provide products that consistently meet both customer requirements and applicable legal requirements.
